

INTERGENERATIONAL DIALOGUE OF ASIAN PARLIAMENTARIANS & YOUTH ADVOCATES

Report

2022

Background

Asian Population and Development Association (APDA) and Y-PEER Asia Pacific Center (APDA), together with UNFPA Asia and the Pacific Regional Office (UNFPA APRO), held a hybrid Intergenerational Dialogue of the Asian Parliamentarians and Youth Advocates to Address Meaningful Youth Engagement on 2-3 June 2022 in Bangkok, Thailand. This dialogue is a continuation of last year's programme that was named "Inter-Generational Dialogue 2021", and its objective is to follow up and share good practices of meaningful youth engagement and youth policies/laws, especially in the COVID-19 context. Furthermore, this event aims to strengthen partnerships between parliamentarians/NCs, CSOs, and youth advocates in respective countries and explore modalities for meaningful youth participation and engagement.

This intergenerational dialogue aimed to share a common understanding of meaningful youth engagement and good examples of youth engagement to inform action plans in respective countries. At the same time, this dialogue was intended to connect parliamentarians, youth advocates, and CSO representatives in their respective countries in order to facilitate follow-up discussions on action plans.

This year the Intergenerational Dialogue focused on Dialogue as well as a field visits to show the actions taken by policymakers and civil society focusing on the adolescents and young people in Thailand. The event also provided a new avenue and sharing platform of various initiatives done by Young People contributing on Youth Adult Partnership and various emerging issues.

Covid 19 Pandemic Threatens Children and Youth Education in an Unprecedented Scale.

The Covid-19 pandemic causes a major disruption of education and learning on an unprecedented scale. Children and youth are being profoundly impacted, with the most marginalized being disproportionately affected. Youth and Parliamentarians thrive to address the task of learning from the crisis and how to mitigate its effects in education. Education delivery is radically changing to ensure continuity of learning whilst schools are closed during lockdown, children, teachers, and governments have to adjust to distance education as a new learning reality. The disparity rise results from prolonged school closure and leads to poor learning outcomes. Good communications with key groups, including parents and teachers, so that they understand the level of risk involved in opening schools and in keeping them closed and the importance of adopting mitigating behaviours at home and in the wider community.

Covid 19 Impacts

Education

- Youth are learning online
- More youth doesn't have an opportunity to have an education
- Some youth have no chance of returning to school

Employment

- Amplifies youth voices during covid 19
- Promoting youth employment
- Services to support youth employment

Participation

- Leading responses in all levels
- Youth are eager to help and engage on all levels
- Youth show great potential during Covid

Objectives

The main objectives of the Intergenerational Dialogue of Asian Parliamentarians & Youth Advocates were:

1. To form and promote partnerships between parliamentarians, Civil Society Organisations, and youth partners in respective countries and explore modalities for meaningful youth participation and engagement.

2. To include youth ideas and generate recommendations in developing the Intergenerational dialogue.

3. To help build a common ground for the dialogues during the Intergenerational Dialogue.

4. To share good examples /different modalities of meaningful youth engagement either in general or COVID-19 contexts, both online and offline engagement

5. To understand the priority of young people and their engagement in respective communities.

6. To understand what meaningful youth engagement means to different groups.

KEY REMARKS

An in-person session with Parliamentarians and youths

• India

The Indian Parliamentarians states that they give incentive to unmarried young girls, which reforms the early marriage. Therefore, this is a great activity to address the prevalence of child marriage. Besides, the Parliamentarians suggested that youth should come forward to take action and be more involved in decision-making about their lives.

• Nepal

Furthermore, in Nepal, led holistic programs empowering the youth. Their national election is working to deliver on the promise of youth engagement as a substantive right for all children and youth.

• Bhutan

Bhutan is building skills for people so that they could sustain themselves on their own and have a good quality of life; this further emphasizes the inclusiveness of youth employment. Moreover, there are NGOs supporting youth councils which is a good sign for meaningful youth engagement. However, people in Bhutan have limited understanding and don't accept same sex marriage and LGBTQI.

• Srilanka

The Sri Lanka parliamentarian highlights that youth recommendations should think further in larger levels and use experience to make informed decisions as well as listen to the government. In addition, the SriLanka parliamentarian states that they are progressing on youth engagement with the involvement of youth ideas, discussion, education youth and changing the world together.

• Phillipines

In Philippines, they recommend that digital skills are valuable skill in the future, and youth should have access and education about digital skills. Moreover, they just have national election which will engage youth to make new policies. This is particularly important as it raises youth voices to the parliamentarians. It is their life and their future.

" Youth engaging COVID by government and self "

SAFALTA MAHARJAN, NEPAL

Safalta Maharjan delivered her speech about youth engagement in COVID, she also talked about how underdeveloped countries are tackling the gaps regarding youth engagement. She also talks about how important youth engagement is in every country, saying, "A child who is competent to form his or her own opinion shall have the right to participate in the decision-making process of family, community, school or other public institution or organization on the matters concerning him or her. "

PRIM RAJASURANG
WONGKRASAEMONGKOL , THAILAND

The Covid 19 pandemic has had a tremendous impact on youth, especially on mental health issues, their well-being, education and youth employment. There is also good potential for youth participation and engagement to help the country. " In Thailand, youth council made online camp to empower and educate youth during Covid 19, and the organization have human resources to engage with youth in all levels."

The motivating examples, speeches, and presentations made by the youth speaker led to the third session, where there were two youth speakers Ms Safalta Maharjan from Nepal & Ms Wongkrasaemongkol, Rajasurang (Prim) from Thailand.

Virtual group discussion

ROOM 1

1. What youth engagement systems are working best in your country?

-NGOs in the country work for the youth in a good way by motivating them to do well. Lack of understanding of what to do is, however, a problem in the community.
.-Lack of information and structure on the functioning of youth groups is also a concern.

-NGOs Engage a lot of young people and understand the functioning of NGOs for Child rights and advocacy.

-In many countries, a Major engagement system worked were- the National youth forum- took place quarterly or yearly. They decentralized, and they delegated young people, which was a very good engagement. The government formed the youth group at the National level and is parallel to Civil society.

-Young people lead and delegate tasks and take up leadership and decision-making role also helped in many countries.

-Youth groups from Bangladesh NGOs represented the youth groups on SRHR however, not on the National level.

-For Bhutan, RENEW/ NCWC/ Y-PEER/ SCOUTS/ Youth development fund has worked hand in hand to engage youths and give them platforms for discussions and deliberations. They work with youth to engage in discussions and also reach out to national and local levels.

-Various programs in schools and colleges also help engage young youths as they better understand youth-related issues.

-To conclude, NGOs played a major role in engaging young youths

Following are the key recommendations made in the session Virtual group discussion

ROOM 1

2. What new idea do you have that could help engage young people better?

-Give more facilities to join groups as many are unaware of what NGOs are or how to be a part of them.

-Awareness programs to update and make people aware of the NGO sessions. Through various mediums like social media, schools and colleges.

-Government should introduce online platforms for youth engagement. The online or offline initiative needs to make a blind letter option for security purposes

3. What recognition or aid do young people require in your country?

- Awareness and advocacy on Issues relating to suicide, rape cases and such criminal acts for people to be aware of the consequences as well as legal, medical, and emotional support to the victims.

-Proper Aid for better mental health facilities

-Youths need support from friends and family for mental health issues, which is a very serious concern at the moment.

-More facilities for people with disabilities and vulnerable groups

-If students are taught how to learn the new system instead of only studying from textbooks.

-Provide proper internet facilities to people from backward communities to engage them equally in youth-related forums.

Testimonial from Youth Participants

Wongkrasaemongkol, Rajasurang (Prim), Thailand

“It’s an honour for me to be a part of the Intergenerational dialogue, as it brings youth advocates to engage with the policymakers. It is a wonderful opportunity to share experiences and collaborate internationally. I would like to represent how young people contribute to society and raise awareness and educate the youth about the progress, sharing the possibilities and success. I believe that together we will go further and make this world a better place.”

Awnu Shrestha, Nepal

“I am a youth advocate working with young people with disabilities, I am expecting that this intergenerational dialogue will not only address young people’s issues but how can focus on ideas and the work that young people are doing to support policymakers and national governments.”

Testimonial from Youth Participants

• Nhi, Vietnam

"I believe that young people's voices play an essential role in every aspect of our life, and they need to be heard more by policymakers, governments, and stakeholders. Therefore, I expect that this dialogue will be the place where the youth can share their concerns about social issues and give specific recommendations.

As a young person with experience in doing social activities and managing many youth groups, I hope to be able to bring those experiences to share with parliaments and young people in the dialogue."

Ram Dulip, Sri Lanka

As a young human rights activist, i believe young people should be heard by the responsible & decision-making elders in the parliament. I am expecting to talk about the laws that affect young people from all walks of life.
